

Even Santa struggles with long reports.

Do You Read What I Read?

Said evaluator to the manager,
Do you hear what I hear?
Said in board rooms here and everywhere,
Do you hear what I hear?
Decisions made, without evidence,
It just doesn't make any sense,
It just doesn't make any sense.

Said the manager to evaluator,
Do you see what I see?
Sitting in my office everywhere,
Do you see what I see?
Stacks, and stacks, of boring long reports,
Why can't you give me something that's short?
Why can't you give me something that's short?

Said evaluator to the manager,
Listen to what I say,
I can give you just a two-pager,
Listen to what I say,
With lay-ering, it's really up to you,
You can read as much as you choose,
You can read as much as you choose.

Said the manager to evaluator,
Do you know what I need?
Put your key findings in reverse order,
Do you know what I need?
Recommendations first, then put all the rest,
That would leave me much less stressed,
That would leave me much less stressed.

Said evaluator to the manager,
I will do as you say,
To promote use of eval everywhere,
I will do as you say,
Your time, your time, is valuable and short,
I won't give you a lengthy report,
I won't give you a lengthy report.
